

Alex's Diary

Hello everyone.

Good News!!

The doctor at the hospital has said that I'm going to be a BIG sister to a LITTLE sister.....how he can tell I really don't know (I've looked at the picture Mummy brought home with her and all I can make of it is a really big head)

Anyway, conversation has naturally turned to names.

Brother Ole isn't at all interested. He's already fallen out with his new little sister because Mummy is so very sick. I, on the other hand, am very interested.

I think that my little sister should be called Alex Constance.

Mummy says that this is silly because there is already one Alex Constance in our house and that's me!

The solution is quite simple.....I'll be known as Alex 1 and my little sister will be Alex 2.

Watch this space.

Bye for now,
Alex
