

Alex's Diary

Hello everyone.

Up until now I've been very very lucky at school. Now you may be thinking that luck has got nothing whatsoever to do with school. Well, I'm about to prove you wrong.

I know that I can only get 10 out of 10 for spellings if I take the time to learn how to spell the words.....no luck involved there.

Similarly I also know that I can only move on to the next reading book if I remember to take my reading book home each day and read to Mummy or Daddy.

But.....if I mention 'nit combs', then I'm sure that you'll understand how lucky I've been up until now.

Up until now I'd never even heard of nit combs.....never mind used one. Grandma calls these strange little combs biddy combs, and she's told me about somebody called 'Nitty Nora the Biddy Explorer'.....who she remembers well from her days at Primary School.

Oh dear, I hear Mummy calling, saying that she needs to have another good look through my hair.

I wonder.....do you think that my Mummy could actually be a 'Nitty Nora'?

Bye for now,

Alex
